Description

Royal HHE Bengal Tiger Painted Typewriter Made In 1953

The orange and black paint job gives this 50's typewriter a fresh new look. The bengal tiger theme (not to be confused for the NFL franchise that goes by the same name) is perfect for the typewriter's unique ruggedness that makes it such a great office typewriter. These machines were built to use--not to sit in a corner and collect dust. They're real tigers.

This unit originally had a dull, greenish finish. You see the model pop up in Barney Miller episodes throughout the series, as pictured here.

Let's face it--not the most attractive typewriter ever made. But it is a solid machine, and it was made for heavy use. These 50's HHE models aren't quite as heavy as the KMM models built in the 40's, but they're not so light that they become flimsy.

Call me and set up an appointment to have a complete demo and a crash-course on how these manual typewriters work.

If you're in Cincinnati, I offer free delivery. If ordering it from outside Cincinnati, choose the option to add $30 for shipping.
